President's Message

A warm welcome as we prepare to celebrate our 50th Annual Meeting and Convention. This year is a historic year for our Federation, and when we look back at our past accomplishments and honor all who have given a voice to Democratic women, we can be very proud.

We are grateful to the 27 women who met in DC and created our organization. We honor our first President Rilla Moran Woods, who along with C. Delores Tucker and Caroline Wilkins obtained three seats on the Democratic National Committee, including a seat on the Executive Committee. There were no text messages, emails, or Zoom meetings, but these women were effective between 1972 – 1977 in getting NFDW recognized as the DNC's official grassroots, constituent organization for women.

We celebrate the leadership and participation of our membership in the hard-fought Presidential campaign and other Democratic campaigns throughout the country. Because of the great efforts of our Democratic women, especially our African American sisters, Democrats now have the White House, the U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives.

This election was historic as we elected our first woman Vice President and she is also the first African/Asian American, and a daughter of immigrants to our country. We see Deb Haaland confirmed as our first woman and Native American Secretary of the Interior. We see Nancy Pelosi as Speaker of the House. President Joe Biden's various appointments are historic because of the diversity that includes an all-female Communications Department, Janet Yellen, confirmed as the first female Secretary of the Treasury, and Avril Haines confirmed as the first female Director of National Intelligence.

We look to the present and acknowledge and appreciate the enormous efforts for this convention by our awesome co-chairs, Monica Readus, 1st Vice President of our Florida Federation and LaTanya Millhouse, President of our Alabama Federation. We are thrilled with the convention theme "Women Build Back Better."

We look to the future and see great leadership from the slate of officers selected by NFDW's Nominating Committee. The dedication to our Federation by our members is another mighty strength. NFDW can play a significant role in helping President Biden to achieve his agenda, as well as continuing to elect more Democrats up and down the ballot.

We see the results of a movement started over 100 years ago emphasizing women's rights, and we see the possibility of the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. We see more and more women finding confidence in their ability to run for office. The horizon is bright and inviting.

I am honored to have served as your President. Thank you for allowing me to work alongside our dedicated members as we seek to make this a better country for all. As I pass the gavel to our next President of NFDW, I am glad it still seems to be the year of women. Sojourner Truth's famous statement, "Ain't I a woman?", and her message in that oration, pertains to all of us.

It's our time to make History and let's go do it!

All the best to you,

Cindy Jenks
President
National Federation of Democratic Women

Nominating Committee Chair

President - Gail Buckner

Gail Buckner has served as the Chair of the National Federation of Democratic Women's Legislative Committee for the past five years and she led the creation of position papers for our members to use during "Women in Blue". To help members prioritize the use of various papers and integrate these papers into resolutions as necessary, she created a document called, "How to use NFDW's Position Papers and Resolutions. She has worked very closely with Resolutions Chair, Judy Villa to streamline this process. The Action Alerts and Message Statements on behalf of President Cindy Jenks have been her priority as well.

Gail has been responsible for creating the past two online auctions and is busy working on this year's online auction for the 2021 virtual convention. She has also been instrumental in helping individual states create an online auction for their state. Gail is currently serving as the 3rd Vice President of NFDW and has attended most of all the Southern Regional meetings, as well as other regional meetings. She has been an active, visible presence on the Executive Board and is currently a member of the planning committee for the 50th Anniversary National Convention to be held this June, virtually.

Gail is a past President of the Georgia Federation of Democratic Women and has been a member in good standing since 1989. During her term as President of GFDW, she added a number of Leadership awards, including the True Blue Award, the Bouquet Award and the Burlene Morris Leadership Award. As president of GFDW, she also brought back the Maxine Goldstein Leadership Award, which is presented to a woman notably serving in the Georgia General Assembly.

Gail has also held elective office as a Georgia State Senator, 2008-2010; Georgia's House of Representatives, 1991-2006 and was the Democratic Party of Georgia's Nominee for Secretary of State in 2006. She brings a wealth of experience, leadership, determination, and knowledge to this position.

Gail Buckner's Vision for NFDW

The National Federation of Democratic Women has a long history of strong and dedicated presidents and officers, DNC representatives, committee chairs and supportive members. Our state federations are achieving great things as they work to elect Democrats up and down the ballot, and as we advocate for good legislation and rally to defeat bad bills.

Our country is now so complex that we have to be even more vigilant and continue moving forward more intently. NFDW must continue to grow our state federations and membership. We have to be creative, as well as persuasive to establish new federations in those states without NFDW. Those states that are federated must also be cultivated, encouraged and supported even more. Will Rogers once said, "Even if you're on the right track, you can get run over if you just sit there."

NFDW must bring more women into our organization. A first step can be to form a new committee of advisors comprised of those young women to whom we have presented scholarships in recent years. These young women can be included in our programs, such as the Strategic Planning Meeting that the Legislative Committee conducted on February 13. Our state federations could also appoint a young woman as a representative on this committee of advisors. We can encourage the regional meetings to include these young women advisors in their meetings.

NFDW and our state federations can benefit from organized leadership training that is conducted by a professional leadership organization or the DNC. This leadership training should begin soon after our national convention. We are always busy, but there will be more free time sooner rather than later as we're gearing up for the mid-term elections.

As a former member of the National Order of Women Legislators and the National Foundation for Women Legislators, I had access to leadership training that was conducted by the Gallop Institute. NFDW can benefit from this type of comprehensive, professional training.

More organizational strategic planning can benefit NFDW and our state federations. More input in decision-making can be very constructive.

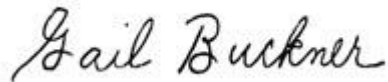

Engaging even more with state elected officials and members of Congress will be a priority.

We should take note and evaluate how many of the new organizations are raising money. I'm aware of at least two new organizations that are doing great things and that is partly because they are flush with money to spend on their priorities. NFDW can benefit from awarding more scholarships and making more donations to women running for Congress.

My experiences as President of the Georgia Federation of Democratic, President of the National Foundation for Women Legislators, five years as Chair of the Legislative Committee and my service as Third Vice President has helped prepare me to lead the National Federation of Democratic Women.

As your next President, I pledge to serve with dedication and humility. I will treat each member with respect and all opinions will be listened to and evaluated before making a determination that is in the best interest of the organization. I will make sure that NFDW does have that "Big Tent" that Democrats seek. Let's work together!

Onward.

Please see the Voting Process for the Virtual Meeting in this issue of the Communicator as recommended by the Parliamentarian.

Recording Secretary - Peggy Stepp

Peggy Stepp has been active in Women's Democratic Clubs for over 30 years. She has served in Leadership positions in local County Clubs for many years and has been actively involved with the Democratic Party at all levels. She served as the 1st and 3rd Vice President, and as Secretary of the 7th District Democratic Women's Clubs and has served as President several times.

She was President of the Missouri Federated Democratic Women. She has been a Committeewoman for Missouri Democratic Party intermittently and served on the Executive Board. She has been involved in NFDW for past 15 years and has attended every National Convention during this time.

She also served as the Secretary for the Midwest Region of NFDW and as President of the MFWDC and continues on the President's Advisory Committee and the Executive Committee of the MFWDC.

During her time with the NFDW, she has served on the History Committee of NFDW and has chaired the Awards Committee since 2013. She was also quite instrumental helping the Missouri Federation with the NFDW convention in Kansas City as the Registration Chair.

She is extremely qualified to serve as Recording Secretary because of her long history taking minutes and her attention to detail. Her attendance at several national conventions has given her a great understanding of the organization, past and present.

Peggy is always willing to lend a hand and volunteer her assistance whenever there is a need. She will be a welcome addition to the Board.

Treasurer - Dorinda White

Dorinda White was elected as the President of the DC Federation of Democratic Women in 2019 and has been a member since 2015. She has been an active member of the Federation since 2015 when she served as a volunteer with DCFDW Past President Hazel Thomas as she hosted a Legislative Summit. She has participated in the past three national conventions.

As a member of one of the DCFDW Clubs, she was asked to serve as Vice President of the DC Federation. In 2019, she was unanimously elected to serve as President of the DC Federation of Democratic Women and has been instrumental in many of the DC Federation's initiatives.

Dorinda is a creative, people person with the skills necessary to be a leader. During the 2019 elections of the DC Democratic Women's Club and due to the lack of a candidate for Treasurer, Dorinda stepped up to take on the role of Treasurer while at the same time, running for DCFDW President. She set up the electronic payments methods and received the membership payments as the members prepared for their annual September Membership Reception. At the time, she was also serving as the DC Federation President and felt that it was a conflict of interest to serve in this dual role. She graciously resigned from the position of DC Democratic Women's Club Treasurer when a new Treasurer was named. She continued to be a mentor to the new Treasurer as she gained the confidence and knowledge needed for her position. As DCFDW President, she encouraged the electronic payment method for dues for her members and increased membership.

As a public servant in the State Medicaid Agency of the Government of the District of Columbia, she was responsible for the budget of up to $1 million dollars and had oversight over three government vendors. She was responsible for budget allocations for each vendor and when necessary, defunding their allocations due to non-performance. She had to track all spending amounts and give approval for any budget allocations. As President of a 1400-member organization, Women in Film and Video of Washington, DC, Dorinda worked closely with a 26-member Board of Directors and Executive Director to track and administer an annual $500K budget. As President of the DCFDW, Dorinda applied for and received a $2000 grant for DCFDW GOTV efforts which she allocated to the two DCFDW Clubs. She has a good understanding of the responsibilities of being a treasurer.

Dorinda has attended three (3) National Conventions, Eastern Regional meetings and invited Federation members nationwide to participate in DCFDW's Zoom events on GOTV, Voter Suppression, What's on the Ballot, National and International Women's Day, The 411 on the Plum Book and Presidential Appointments and many more. She created the DCFDW Commission on Presidential Appointments to create a pipeline for Democratic women to aspire to politically appointed positions. She also participates regularly in the State President meetings/calls with NFDW President Cindy Jenks. She has been an active Federation member at all levels. The combination of her leadership roles and budget oversight as well as her active participation as a member of the NFDW is a great foundation as she seeks the position of Treasurer of NFDW.

Voting

The NFDW election of officers system is likely different from others in which you have participated. Everyone attending is registered as a delegate, but that does not entitle every individual a vote. Votes are determined by membership status. A Full Member State is entitled to twenty (20) votes regardless of how many delegates from the state are registered at the convention. Clubs are entitled to one (1) vote. Individual Members will caucus and select from among themselves the delegate who will cast their one vote.

If your state is a paid member state, your state is eligible for 20 votes per officer. If there are two or more candidates running for the office, your delegation will caucus to determine which candidate(s) will receive your state's votes. Votes will be cast by voice, and the State President (or designee) will present the number of votes cast by her delegation.

Each state will need to meet in caucus to discuss all issues before Thursday, June 10th, prior to the start of the convention. Voting will take place on proposed bylaws, resolutions, and the nomination of officers. The State President or her designee will report the state's vote (or votes) at the convention. Voting takes place by a roll call of registered, paid, full member states.

Nominations Process for the Virtual Convention

The Nominating Committee met and has recommended the slate as presented.

Nominations from the floor will follow this process:

- If someone intends to run from the floor, they must submit a letter of intent in writing to the President by the end of the business day on Tuesday, June 1, 2021 (10 days prior to the start of the convention).  Lunchpool Requirements for the Virtual Convention
- Letter should include a brief statement of intent to run for the particular office, with a statement indicating having been a Federation member for at least 2 years and a statement indicating that your state is a full member state.
- Letter will also list names of persons who will place the name in nomination and the second.
- President will forward the names of those running from the floor to participating State Presidents (or their convention spokesperson).
- State Presidents will need to share this information with their delegation (paid, registered delegates participating in the convention).
- States will need to caucus sometime between Wednesday, June 2nd - Thursday, June 10th to cast their votes. Votes for bylaws, resolutions, and nominations will be reported to the President by Thursday, June 10th at the end of the business day.
